A bridge expert comes along and says that if you expect to cut any figure in the social whirl you must be able to play a good hand of bridge. People used to be so constituted and educated even without newspapers, magazines, and the radio, that when they met for social purposes they could keep all entertained and interested by discussing public events and literature. Today, the people in general soon forget public events and never did know much about literature. With our literary attainments so limited, we must resort to bridge to enjoy the presence and associations of our friends. Things have come to a terrible pass when we have to substitute clubs and epades for mentality.

The East Side Parent-Teachers' Association has raised $200 for the purpose of building drinking fountains for the public school. The Bryan Parent-Teacher organizations are among the most active in the State, and to them belong much of the credit for the high standards and rating of the local schools. Thomas Jefferson said that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and our parent-teacher organizations keep a vigilant eye on the welfare of our schools.

Secretary Andrew Mellon is to testify concerning the mysterious Continental Trading bonds. The Senate investigation committee should have called him some time ago. If any big business transactions have taken place in this country without Mellon's knowledge, you can be assured that it was not worth knowing about. The Republican scandal of 1928 finally will be exposed, despite all cover-up methods of the Republicans.

Oil operators in Texas are greatly distressed over the condition of the industry. Representatives of the oil association met with Governor Moody Saturday. Oil is now one of Texas' chief assets, one of the leading sources of revenue of the state. It is of much concern to all that the oil business, which has been in a slump for more than a year, should again be placed on a profitable basis.

President T. O. Walton of A. and M. College has asked Governor Dan Moody for appropriations to provide a new well of adequate water supply and for lighting and heating facilities in the new dormitories at A. and M. The State should provide these essentials immediately. Without good water, the welfare of the students is jeopardized and the new buildings are useless without lights and heat.

Elwell Satterwhite, Bryan man, was found guilty of criminal assault Monday night by a jury, and was given 35 years in the penitentiary. The South has long been noted for the mantle of protection it throws around the chastity of its womanhood. Purity of womanhood is essential for the perpetuity and development of the American people, and no means is too severe to safeguard this heritage.

Who will be the nominees for president of the United States in the fall elections, is becoming a more pertinent question each day. Articles by political writers in Sunday's State dailies disclosed that the probability is greater than ever that Al Smith will be the Democratic choice and Coolidge or Charles Evans Hughes will be the Republican nominee.

Cameron has gone over the top in securing natural gas signers. The Community Gas Company demanded 500 signers and this number and a few more have been obtained. In securing natural gas, Central Texas cities are exhibiting a spirit of progressiveness that should pave the way for many more improvements.

The American Red Cross has offered aid to the Red Cross organization in Brazil in its recent catastrophe. This humanitarian organization knows no bounds in its mission to extend mercy and to relieve suffering.

ROMANTIC

A New York City society girl Miss Barbara Mondell, reputed to be worth $15,000,000, has married an ex-cowboy in Colorado Springs, whom she met at his saddle shop. She said she preferred the romance provided by a drab harness shop to that afforded by the bright lights, big limousines, magnificent theatres, and gay night clubs. She said she preferred the manly Westerners to the callow Easterners.

This incident is another example of the old adage that truth is stranger than fiction. — Bryan Daily Eagle.

Well, the young lady was brought to Colorado Springs by her wealthy mother for the benefit of the mountain air, the Rocky Mountain air it is. She was not very strong when she arrived from New York, not that New York's climate is as fierce as you might suppose it, but that getting around in New York is no job for a girl who isn't strong enough to buffet the mobs. Well, the Rocky Mountain air restored the young lady to good health. She became enamored of the outdoor life, riding horses and playing cowgirl and racing with her dogs. She had a nice collection of dogs, her mamma having spared no expense in providing her with canine company. And what was more natural that she should drop in at a harness shop to buy a muzzle for one of her pets? Nothing more natural in the world. And what more commonplace than that the proprietor should wait on her, explaining the muzzles, their interstices, their fine points? Nothing could be more commonplace. But romance lurks in commonplaces. The shop keeper happened to be a good-looking young man who had been a cowboy. The young lady doted on cowboys and mountain camps and galloping horses, and so it was hardly any time before they met again. Now the little muzzle shop is feeling a bit forlorn, because the proprietor himself has become muzzled, in a manner of speaking. He has been made husband to an heiress worth millions of dollars, which means that he no longer has to keep a harness shop, but instead has to trot in double harness, perhaps under whip lashes so to speak. The guess of this column is that working for a rich wife is one of the hardest employments there is, yet there are millions of sturdy young Americans who might be tagged under that classification in Situations Wanted.—State Press in Dallas News.

WITH OUR EXCHANGES

WOULD BOLT

Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the national chairman of the Democratic committee, is very positive about some things connected with the nomination of a candidate for the presidency. She speaks "right out in meetin'," and says if the Houston convention nominates a wet or even one that wabbles that the Democratic women will nominate a ticket of their own and put up a ding dong, brass band campaign. She points out that the party nominated a wringing wet in 1920 in the person of Jimmy Cox over the protest of the women who resulted in the Democratic vote slumping to 37 per cent of the votes cast, and that regardless of this overwhelming defeat the party in 1924 chose a wabbling candidate when Davis was made the standard bearer. "And did the women support him?" asks Mrs. Shaver and answers her question with a decided, "no they did not." And the bottom dropped out of the Democratic party and only 29 per cent of the voters voted for the wabbling candidate.

Therefore Mrs. Shaver thinks it's time to change from wet and wabbling candidates and that unless this is done she is going to quit and claim there are several million women voters who look at it just like she does. She doesn't want to vote the Republican ticket and therefore favors a dry Democratic ticket if the convention persists in selecting wet candidates.

She does not indicate Mr. Shaver's opinion on the subject.—Marshall News.

Behold! The lodge holds together and they eat. The club dineth together and they eat. The business men take counsel together and they eat. The church has a social and they eat. And even when the missionary society meeteth together they eat. But this latter is in good cause because they "eat in remembrance" of the poor heathen who have not much to eat. Behold! Hath man's brains gone to his stomach and doth he no longer regard intellectual dainties that you cannot no longer call an assembly or get together a quorum or even a baker's dozen without you hold up the "baker's dainties as a bait?" Be it true that the day cometh, that to get a crowd at prayer meeting the preacher must hold up a biscuit?

Yet, verily, thou hast heard of the child races of the world. But behold it nigh thee, even at the door. For as one who calleth unto the child and saith, "Come hither, little one, and I will give thee a stick of candy," even so must thou say to his grown up papa and mamma, "Assemble ye together and we will serve refreshments." And lo, they come like sheep into a pen. Isn't it the truth?—"Exchange" in Mt. Pleasant Times.

C. M. RISINGER HAS 40 ACRES PLANTED TO CORN

C. M. Risinger of Steep Hollow was in town today on business. "Fine weather for crops," said Mr. Risinger. When asked if he had his corn planted he replied: "Yes some weeks ago and it is just about ready to come up out of the ground."

Mr. Risinger has 30 acres planted to corn and he will plant about 40 to cotton. This is the same acreage he planted last year.

Pioneer Airplane Activities Of Seth Barwise, Husband Of Bryan Girl, Are Eulogized In McClure's

In the March issue of McClure's magazine is an article entitled, "Pioneers—New Style," in which Seth Barwise of Fort Worth, who a few months ago was married to Miss Onah Astin of Bryan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Astin, is commended for his activities in promoting aviation in Texas. He is termed a "pioneer" in aviation, just as his father was a leader in the railroad industry in Texas.

The following article, based on the story in McClure's Magazine, appeared in a recent issue of the Houston Post-Dispatch: The young millionaire aviator, Seth Barwise, founder of the Dallas-Houston air line, represents Texas in the roster of rich men's sons who, at sacrifice of personal fortunes, are winning world supremacy for America in the air.

The son of J. H. Barwise, pioneer in Texas railroad development and grandson of J. H. Barwise, first Texas cattle king, is one of two dozen wealthy young men who are building air routes, manufacturing and piloting planes, inventors and subsidizing aerial schools, generally without hope of financial return for years to come, to lift this country out of its aerial doldrums.

These are the facts brought out by Earl Reeves, writer on aviation, who in the March issue of McClure's magazine lists the achievements of these scoons of the rich who prefer the cockpit, the factory and pioneering executive jobs of aviation to life in the idle rich circles to which their millions make them eligible.

Descendant of Frontiersman "Seth Barwise's planes fly over the land his grandfather's cattle cropped; they fly three times as fast as the trains his father has directed," Mr. Reeves pointed out. "Young Barwise is doing his bit to knit together more closely the greatest state in the union. He is a pioneer in the new style; but he is only one of two dozen wealthy youths whom America must thank for her rapid aerial progress."

Consider, for example, Sherman Fairchild, son of the business machines magnate, whose $40,000,000 state he inherited. The young Fairchild invented the aerial camera now in universal use in his early twenties. Today he is manufacturing planes and projecting aerial communication lines from New York to open in the spring.

Harold F. Pitcairn, heir to a $20,000,000 plate glass fortune, is the backer of the New York-Atlanta air mail route, a pilot himself and operator of two flying fields and an aerial school at Philadelphia.

Edsel Ford, with the same almost limitless Ford fortune behind him, not only is building planes, the article points out, but is transporting mail and express 2000 miles a day over routes from Detroit to Chicago, Cleveland and Buffalo.

Charles L. Lawrence, engineering executive of the Wright company, and designer of the "Whirlwind" engine, which took Lindbergh, Byrd and Chamberlain across the Atlantic, is another whose family fortune would have served him for life.

Walter Dillingham, of the now wealthy family which pioneered Hawaii, is sponsor for an aerial service which will link the islands in a close unit whole.

N. A. T. Backers Wealthy All of the backers of the National Air Transport, greatest of the commercial lines with its route from New York to Chicago, Kansas City and into Texas, are young millionaires who expect no immediate return from their $10,000,000 investment but are content to arouse the public to air consciousness and count on the future, the McClure's article points out. They are Philip and Lester Armour, James A. Develin, Sherman Fairchild, Marshall Field, Stuyvesant Fish, John Hays Hammond, Charles L. Lawrence, C. T. Ludington, Jeremiah Milbank, Harold F. Pitcairn, George M. and Eadie Reynolds, William A. Rockefeller Jr., T. Phillip Swift and Philip K. Wrigley.

Harry F. Guggenheim, son of the copper magnate, himself a wartime pilot, heads the $2,500,000 Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, sponsors of Lindbergh's all-American tour and backers of a half dozen university courses in aerial science.

One of the strangest facts brought out by Mr. Reeves' study is that of the 50 ranking A. E. F. flyers at the end of the world war, only two are directly connected with commercial aviation today.

Dallas Boy To Be Four-Letter Athlete In Bryan

Abe Barnett of Dallas, captain-elect of the 1928 Allen Academy football team, is almost certain to be a four letter man at the local school here this year, his first season at the Bryan institution.

Barnett already has made letters in football and basketball. He was an end on the football team, with a particular adeptness for snatching forward passes. He was a forward on the basketball team, and one of the leading scorers in academy circles in the State.

He is a pitcher on the Allen baseball team, and is giving much promise as a boxman. Barnett also is a leading member of the track team, running the 440-yard and half mile races and entering in the high jump competition.

Barnett is the only athlete at Allen Academy with a chance to make four letters.

In addition to his unusual athletic ability, Barnett ranks high in scholarship, and has shown dramatic ability as a member of the Curtain Club.

Three One-Act Plays Are To Be Given Soon

The members of the Curtain Club of Allen Academy will present three one-act plays at the Palace Theatre Monday night, March 26. "The Passing of Chow-Chow," "The Prairie Doll," and "In the Zone," will be the plays given.

Seats are now on sale at T. K. Lawrence, Inc.

This is the first year that a dramatic club has been organized at Allen Academy, and much dramatic talent has been found.

The state of Texas distributed last year about $20,500,000 to the public schools based on an apportionment of $15 per each scholastic.

Urge Co-Operative Turkey Marketing

COLLEGE STATION, March 12.—Cooperative turkey marketing appears to offer a considerable field in Texas, according to a study of results in various parts of the state.

Reports to Agricultural and Mechanical College here show that about 2,500 turkeys were polled at Marble Falls, sold to the highest bidder and brought farmers about $850 over local prices for small offerings.

In Baylor county the saving on four cars of turkeys was $2,817.32 over individual selling and in Tom Green county 200 farmers without a penny of outlay netted $10,000 profit on 12 cars over the local market. The farmers, however, own a dressing plant and do all of their own work. The plant is worth $5,000 and is free of debt.

In Runnels county seven cars were sold cooperatively through the local farm bureau at an advance over the market and netted a clear profit of $6,300.

Spring Is Just Around Corner

Spring is "just around the corner" at this time, for the dogwood blossoms, wide open with their white flowers, are adorning the woodland landscapes and the peach, pear and plum trees are in full bloom. The pink and white of the fruit blossoms make colorful spots on the barren yards over Bryan at this time when the leaves on the trees are not yet mature. Bryan also has several "Redwood" trees, that are just at this season a gorgeous picture of color and beauty, and with the old fashioned "fire bush," brilliant in blossoms that rival the fire in redness and glow, and the white bridal wreath bushes bursting into full bloom also our little city will soon rival in beauty an old fashioned garden.

JURY DELIBERATES ONLY HOUR AND 35 MINUTES IN BIG CASE

Case Goes to Jury at 6:50 and Hour Later They Were Ready With Verdict; All Four Lawyers in the Case Make Brilliant Speeches, With Henderson and Mathis in Star Roles

(From Tuesday's Daily)

"Guilty. Penalty, 35 years in the State penitentiary."

This terse and poignant verdict was given at 8:25 last night in the trial of Elwell Satterwhite of Bryan, charged with criminal assault upon Angelina Vitopil on the Bryan-Hearne road last August 18. The trial was one of the most unusual in the history of Brazos county, and attracted the largest crowds in more than a quarter of a century. Under the vigilant eyes of Judge W. C. Davis, the crowds were orderly and well-behaved.

The jury gave this epochal decision in only an hour. It was allowed to start deliberation at 7 o'clock and by 8 o'clock the verdict was ready. During this time the jurors ate supper, showing that it required but a few minutes to reach a decision.

MAY APPEAL CASE

In view of the severity of the penalty, it is felt certain that the defense will serve notice of appeal. The defense has two days in which to file an appeal.

An outstanding feature of the trial Monday afternoon was the argument made by the four lawyers in the case, Law Henderson and County Attorney W. E. Neeley for the State, and Lamar Bethea and John Mathis for the defense. W. E. Neeley opened with a vigorous denunciation of the defendant and of the way in which he is alleged to have perpetrated his crime. Many said it was the county attorney's best speech of his career.

He was followed by Lamar Bethea for the defense, who also arose to the occasion for his client, and made a clear and forceful recital of the facts from the defense's point of view.

Mr. Bethea was followed by John C. Mathis, gray-haired veteran criminal lawyer of Houston, who made one of the most artistic and eloquent speeches ever heard in a court room in this section. From a forensic point of view it was almost perfect. His diction was classical, his arguments clear and well-organized, his peroration eloquent, and his entire speech filled with appeal to the emotions that kept many in his audience in tears.

This eloquent address was followed by the blistering speech of Law Henderson of Bryan, who proceeded to tear down every straw of the defense of his opponents, picturing the alleged crime of the defendant as a travesty upon society, civilization, and decency—his speech a masterpiece of logic and argument. Though lacking somewhat in the disappeared out of his pocket while the car was stopped by the road.

Wants His $7

"The loss of the $7 is the only thing that worried you about the affair, didn't it," Henderson asked Satterwhite.

"I didn't find the $7 and still would like to have it back," Satterwhite answered.

Satterwhite said that he understood that the reputation of the complaining witness for want of chastity was well known.

"Well, you weren't helping it any, were you, Satterwhite," Henderson asked.

"Well, I wasn't hurting it any," he reported.

Again Satterwhite repeated that he had no difficulty in accomplishing his purpose when once she "gave in."

Maria Kortis, Caldwell, testified that she was Angelina's sister. She said she was 17 and Angelina about 19. She said her foster parents adopted her when she was quite young and that she lived at Fayetteville before moving to Caldwell.

Called back to the stand, Angelina Vitopil admitted most of her sister's testimony adding, however, that she did not know exactly how much older she was than her sister.

Causes Laughter

A ripple of laughter greeted the arrival of Minnie Heji of Caldwell, who came into the court in a nonchalant way chewing gum, and appearing perfectly at home. She passed by the witness' chair, and walked up beside the district judge when he called her to halt and sit down in the witness' stand. She was sworn in, and had to tell to lower her hand after taking the oath. She answered all questions by both lawyers without equivocation. She admitted that she had a baby but never had been married. She said that she and Angelina had been intimate friends, and frequently went out with boys, giving their names. She said that she and her boy friend waited on the front seat of the car while Angelina and companion went behind the wood pile at Chrisman in 1925.

"Angelina and her friend were loving and kissing," said Minnie.

"I suppose you and your boy friend were conducting yourselves properly during that time," said Mr. Henderson.

"Why certainly," she retorted.

In rebuttal, Angelina said that she knew Minnie only casually and never had been out with her, upon this or any other occasion.

They drove out on the Hearne road near a school house on the right hand side of the road. The subject of whiskey had been brought up, but Angelina did not appear to remember exactly its connection. After stopping at the school house, the trio drove toward Benchley. Near Benchley Satterwhite is alleged to have parked on the road, Shelton got out of the car and Satterwhite accomplished his purpose. Angelina said that she protected herself in every possible way, but became exhausted, she stated. She was afraid of Satterwhite. She related the details of the incident saying she tried her utmost to protect herself.

After the affair was over, Satterwhite complained about losing $7 out of his pants pocket. He said he was going to call Sheriff J. H. Reed if Angelina or Leonard did not produce the money. Later Angelina said she would pay him $7 from her wages if he would take her on home.

Angelina said that she burned the clothes she had on that night, with the exception of her hat, because they suggested to her the horrible memory of the events of that night.

A day or two after the affair Angelina went to see Dr. B. U. Sims and sought treatment for an arm injury. She told Dr. Sims nothing of her other trouble upon this visit.

Angelina said that she only went through the fifth grade in public school, attending Caldwell institutions. Her father is her only parent. She lived in Caldwell until she was about 16 and has been living in Bryan about two years. It seems that she is not positive as to her exact age.

She said that she did not stay in school longer on account of the bad condition of her eyes. She said that "I did mighty well to remain in school through the fifth grade with such bad eyes."

Revival Service At College Avenue

The College Avenue Baptist church will engage in a series of revival services beginning Sunday, March 18, and continuing through Sunday, April 1. The local forces of the church will conduct the meeting. The preaching will be done by the pastor, Rev. Roy S. Hollomon. The singing will be in charge of the local choir led by W. S. Barron. Announcements as to the time of services will be made next week. The public is asked to keep the dates in mind and are cordially invited to take part in all of the services of the meeting.

GIVE FLOWERS

The Eagle this morning received a beautiful geranium plant from the Bryan Nursery and Floral Company, sent by the mayor of Louisville, Ky. to mark the opening of the ninth national flower show of that city. The 3,700 bonded members of the Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association sent flowers to newspapers over the nation.

City To Send Firemen To Meet

The City Commission last night voted $400 to send the members of the Bryan fire department to the State convention in Denton 11, 12 and 13.

A committee from the Chamber of Commerce was present and asked of the city to take this action.

Side Lights Of Angelina's Testimony

(From Saturday's Daily)

Angelina Vitopil, 18, who brought the charge of criminal assault against Elwell Satterwhite, is the chief witness for the State. She took the stand yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. She had on a pair of shell-rimmed glasses, and her apparel included a red hat and a brown dress. Her appearance was neat and she was unmoved by the large crowd in the court room. However, it was preceptible that she grew weary of the questions asked her by John Mathis, attorney for the defense.

Angelina was showed every consideration by the court and the attorneys. Law Henderson for the State and John Mathis for the defense addressed her as "Miss Angelina," and asked as few embarrassing questions as possible concerning the alleged crime. There were only men in the court room.

She said that Satterwhite sat down by her and her young friend, Leonard Shelton, at the New York Cafe on the eventful night last September. Leonard had asked to walk home with her from the root beer stand. She said she never had met Satterwhite but had spoken to him upon a few occasions. He suggested that he take Angelina and Leonard home in his car, but at first she refused. She said that she felt tired and later changed her mind about riding home. Satterwhite got in the car and was waiting for them. She got in between Satterwhite and Leonard.

Satterwhite had a puncture and stopped at Lawrence Motor Company between 10 and 20 minutes, purchasing a new casing. Angelina said she had already admonished him to take her on home.

They drove out on the Hearne road near a school house on the right hand side of the road. The subject of whiskey had been brought up, but Angelina did not appear to remember exactly its connection. After stopping at the school house, the trio drove toward Benchley. Near Benchley Satterwhite is alleged to have parked on the road, Shelton got out of the car and Satterwhite accomplished his purpose. Angelina said that she protected herself in every possible way, but became exhausted, she stated. She was afraid of Satterwhite. She related the details of the incident saying she tried her utmost to protect herself.

After the affair was over, Satterwhite complained about losing $7 out of his pants pocket. He said he was going to call Sheriff J. H. Reed if Angelina or Leonard did not produce the money. Later Angelina said she would pay him $7 from her wages if he would take her on home.

Angelina said that she burned the clothes she had on that night, with the exception of her hat, because they suggested to her the horrible memory of the events of that night.

A day or two after the affair Angelina went to see Dr. B. U. Sims and sought treatment for an arm injury. She told Dr. Sims nothing of her other trouble upon this visit.

Angelina said that she only went through the fifth grade in public school, attending Caldwell institutions. Her father is her only parent. She lived in Caldwell until she was about 16 and has been living in Bryan about two years. It seems that she is not positive as to her exact age.

King's Highway

KINGS HIGHWAY, March 13.—The patrons of King's Highway school are congratulating the principal, Mrs. R. B. Hearne, on the fine record made by the senior girls' basketball team on Friday and Saturday last at Bryan.

The first game on Friday afternoon in the interscholastic league contest, was between Bryan high and King's Highway, score B. H. S. 14, K. H. 24.

After the Edge-Harvey game the King's Highway girls were again matched with Tabor. A very close contested game; score Tabor 8, King's Highway 38.

On Saturday Edge and King's Highway played the champion deciding game resulting in a score of Edge 29, Kings Highway 39.

The remarkable part of the girls' victory was their team work; Not one substitute was used in the three games.

Alma Kindt, the captain, played guard, with Helen Milberger, Agnes Lys and Della Sodek played forward, Millie Lys played side center and Millie Novosad center.

The school is planning on a celebration of the girls' victory on Saturday at the school.

Monte Elmer Holden of Hearne with Henry Nash and family spent Sunday with Geo. Nash and family. Jettie and Minnie Nash spent the week-end with friends and relatives in Huntsville.

Reba Kelly, who has been ill, has gone to Hearne to attend school after a two week's absence. Rev. Key held services and preached at the Macy Christian church Sunday morning.

Corn is being planted, but so far none reported coming up. The Navasota River has been out of banks and the west approach to the dump is in bad condition causing much inconvenience to motorists.

Funeral Services Of Mrs. Lelia Suber Adams Held Here Sunday At Home Of Mother, Mrs. J. H. Suber

The funeral of Mrs. Lelia Suber Adams, beloved wife of R. Bert Adams of Jewett, was held from the home of her mother, Mrs. J. H. Suber on College Road, Sunday afternoon, March 11, 1928 at 4 o'clock.

Because she was beloved by all who knew her, because her beautiful life of Christian service had been a benediction to all with whom she came in contact, and because her friends in Bryan, her childhood home, and friends in Jewett, where she and her good husband have lived for the past many years, all feel keenly a deep loss in the passing of Mrs. Adams, the funeral was one of the largest seen in Bryan in years.

Flowers in abundance came from cities all over the State as well as from Bryan, and Jewett, and covered with fragrant beauty, the grave at the city cemetery where interment was made.

The words of the ministers who read the beautiful and comforting passages of scripture, and talked of the faithful, loving service of Mrs. Adams in her church life, her home life, her life in the community in which she lived, brought sweet comfort to the bereaved husband, the aged mother, the sisters and brothers, and the host of friends who stood around her bier. Hope of a "reunion in another and better world" was brought to these sorrowing hearts.

Rev. J. C. Stewart of Franklin Methodist church, and Rev. R. S. Marshall of the First Methodist church of Bryan, conducted the service at the home and at the grave. Mrs. Jno. W. Black and Mrs. E. R. Bryant, sang in duet, with Mrs. Albert Goodman at the piano, followed by a quartet.

Judge Davis Reads Charge To Jury This Afternoon; Gives General And Special Charges

(From Monday's Daily)

District Judge W. C. Davis read the charge to the jury at 2:40 this afternoon in the case of Elwell Satterwhite, charged with criminal assault upon the person of Angelina Vitopil. The court house was crowded to capacity, with many standing in the doors. He gave the general and special charges, as asked by defense. Following are the charges:

1. The defendant stands charged by indictment with the offense of the rape of one Angelina Vitopil, a woman, alleged to have been committed in the County of Robertson and in the 85th Judicial District of Texas, on or about the 18th day of August, 1927.

2. To this charge the defendant pleads not guilty.

3. Rape is the carnal knowledge of a woman without her consent obtained by force.

4. In this case the indictment charges a rape by force, and I charge you that force, within the meaning of the statute, is defined as follows: To constitute a rape by force, the accused must have ravished the alleged injured female by having carnal knowledge of her without her consent and against her will by force, and the force used must have been such as might reasonably be supposed sufficient to overcome all resistance within her power, taking into consideration the relative strength of the parties and other circumstances of the case, and penetration of the sexual organ of the female alleged to have been ravished by the male organ of the accused must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt.

5. The penalty prescribed by statute for the offense of rape is death, or by confinement in the penitentiary for life, or for any terms of years not less than five, in the discretion of the jury.

6. Accordingly you are instructed that if you believe from the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the defendant did, as charged, in the indictment, on or about the 18th day of August, 1927, in the County of Robertson and in the 85th Judicial District of Texas, make an assault in and upon the said Angelina Vitopil, a woman, and did then and there by force violently ravish and have carnal knowledge of her, the said Angelina Vitopil without her consent and against her will, you will find the defendant guilty, as charged, and assess his punishment at death, or by confinement in the penitentiary for life, or for any term of years not less than five.

7. You are further instructed as a part of the law in this case that the defendant stands charged with having carnal knowledge with the said Angelina Vitopil without her consent and by force. You are instructed that it devolves upon the state in this case to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant did have carnal knowledge with the prosecutrix by force and without her consent, and before you can convict the defendant you must believe from the evidence beyond a reasonable doubt that the prosecutrix not only did not consent, but that she put forth her utmost resistance to

8. If, from the evidence, you believe the prosecutrix, Angelina Vitopil, consented to having carnal knowledge with the defendant, Elwell Satterwhite, or you have a reasonable doubt as to whether she did consent, then it would be your duty to acquit the defendant. It is not necessary that the consent be put in words if she yielded her person to the defendant; that would be, in law, consent.

In all criminal cases the burden of proof is on the State.

The defendant is presumed to be innocent until his guilt is established by legal evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt; and in case you have reasonable doubt as to the defendant's guilt you will acquit him, and say by your verdict "not guilty."

You are the exclusive judges of the facts proved, of the credibility of the witnesses and of the weight to be given to the testimony, but you are bound to receive the law from the Court, which is herein given you, and be governed thereby.

JUDGE W. C. DAVIS.

Death of Former Resident Heard Here

The following clipping from Corsicana, telling of the death of a former resident of Bryan will be read with regret by many old time friends here. The deceased will be remembered as a sister of Mrs. A. D. McConico, former Bryan resident, and also by the step-mother of J. Seth Mooring of this city: "Funeral services for Kate Winkler Mooring, 71, native of Corsicana, who died in a Dallas hospital, Thursday, were held in Corsicana from St. John's Episcopal church, Friday, with burial in Oakwood cemetery. Surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Beatrice Markgraff, El Paso and Miss Myra Winkler of Bonham."

BABY RECUPERATING

Bryan friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cloud, are happy with them because of the recuperation of their dear little two-and-a-half year old baby daughter, Elizabeth Ann Cloud who has been so seriously ill for the past several weeks. The little one was stricken with meningitis, and was left helpless and speechless when the disease had run its course. The child's hearing began to improve as soon as the fever left it, but not one word could it speak. Saturday night the child began to speak softly again, and is regaining its voice rapidly. The recovery of the child is said to be little short of wonderful.

Rev. Bob Self To Begin Revival Meeting At Free Baptist Church

Rev. R. V. (Bob) Self will begin a revival for the Free Baptist church in Bryan on Sunday, April 1. The services will be held under a large tent which will be located on the vacant lot in front of the West Side school. Following is a clipping taken from the March 4, edition of "The Sunday Citizen" published in Asheville, N. C., where Rev. Bob Self is now conducting a city wide meeting:

Rev. R. V. Self, well-known mountain evangelist, is having one of the best meetings of his career in his own home town, says many West Asheville residents. His sermons, it is reported, are based strictly upon the Bible and he is fearless in the denunciation of sin. His many attacks upon sin, vice and the various practices of the modern day home, business and methods are not altogether out of line with those of some other ministers, yet, it is said, the evangelist is just "a bit" more to the point and a little less apologetic for his remarks.

The crowds continue to swell the audience at all meetings, while the response to calls for converts is showing a marked degree of increase, say the secretaries, acting for the various churches, participating in the meeting. Several choirs, representing practically every church in the neighborhood, have joined in and are assisting materially in the singing which is being led by Professor Briggs, evangelistic singer. The seating capacity has been doubled since the beginning of the meeting three weeks ago.

It will be remembered that Evangelist Self, announced that he was starting this meeting based on the remarks of Judge Walter E. Moore, who criticized and characterized the crime wave of Buncombe as the worst in the State. The evangelist stated he accepted this statement as a personal challenge to his religion and duty to God. That he is fighting against the cause of evil, is best evidenced by the amount of success which he is attaining, say his committee backers.

This afternoon, the evangelist will hold a special 3 o'clock service, to which every one is cordially invited.

HIGH PRAISE IS GIVEN TO LION NEELEY

LOCAL CLUB TO ASK COMMIS-SIONERS COURT TO SECURE GOOD CLOCK

"Greece had its Demosthenes, France had its Charlemagne, England its Edmund Burke, and Iowa and Bryan have their W. E. Neel-ey, hero of the recent trial here in district court," declared Robert Armstrong, in his praising of his fellow attorney at Tuesday's meeting of the Bryan Lions Club. Following Mr. Armstrong's boundless and eloquent encomium of the county attorney, A. S. Ware, another lawyer, stated that Mr. Neel-ey Monday made one of the greatest speeches that ever fell from the lips of man. Rev. A. F. Ainsworth, speaking for the ministry, said that the preachers of the nation considered his address a revelation. Mr. Neel-ey then was asked by the president to tell, for the benefit of the youth of America, to what factors he attributes his greatness.

This bit of levity, directed at the genial county attorney, was a fun feature of Tuesday's program. Previously Mr. Neel-ey had asked Supt. H. L. Durham, who had just returned from Boston, to tell of Boston beans, Jimmie Walker, A. Smith, and Bunker Hill, and which of the last three men he considered the greatest. Mr. Durham said that the people in Boston were similar to the people in Bryan, but he was glad to get back home.

W. S. Howell called attention to the fact that the court house clock often was not in order, and suggested that the Lions appoint a committee to ask the commissioners court to buy a suitable clock that also can be seen at night. The chair named the following committee: W. S. Howell, chairman; Joe Kaplan and W. E. Neel-ey.

The committee named to handle the Easter egg hunt this year included Jess Hensarling, Willard Chambers, and J. Bryan Miller. The program committee for the remainder of the month was appointed as follows: S. E. Eberstadt, chairman; U. M. Brock, and Norman Dansby.

C. C. Redding, manager of the Community Gas Company of Bryan, was presented as a new member and was enthusiastically received. Short talks also were made by Jack G. Gillette and T. W. Leland of A. and M. College.

The address of the meeting was delivered by Fred Hale, who told of the rapid growth of the hog industry in Texas. His speech was well received.

The following were present: Harry Estill, F. B. Patronella, W. W. Daup, Geo. W. Griner, A. F. Ainsworth, Dr. F. D. Fuller, H. Young, G. L. Crawford, T. W. Leland, Henry Locke, Bill Vito, Norman Dansby, Mat Vito, U. M. Brock, E. R. Bryant, C. C. Franks, W. E. Neel-ey, C. E. Griesser, Jack G. Gillette, W. S. Howell, Harry S. Edge, J. E. Hensarling, C. C. Redding, A. S. Ware, S. D. Snyder, Willard Chambers, Harry L. Durham, S. E. Eberstadt, R. V. Armstrong, Joe Kaplan, M. Schulman, Ross M. Sherwood, Fred Hale, J. A. Clutter, J. I am always glad to meet and talk with old friends of long ago. We also passed through Atha Todd's town and would have hunted him up, but was too late in the day to lose any more time and get in home that night and we were just getting a little home sick as we had been away ever since last November, about one week on our way to Corpus Christi, visiting and fishing on our way down. Stayed one month at Rockport and two weeks at Aransas Pass trying to eat all the fish and oysters in the Bay, but failed completely to do so but feel that we ate our full share of them. After leaving Aransas Pass we were in Houston, Goose Creek oil fields, red hills of Cherokee county where they use heavy breeching harness on their teams, when plowing to keep the plow from running over them when going down the hills. We saw on our trip many different kinds of country, but all in Texas. Such as the level Plains, the rock hills and mountains of southwest Texas. The white sands of the coast, the black lands of central Texas. Also the red and white hills of East Texas and will close by saying we had a delightful trip and enjoyed every day of our outing from start to finish and to make it all the more enjoyable, we found every one of our family and neighbors well at home and a fine season in the ground from recent snows and with unusual amount of spring moisture we ought to make a fine wheat crop in 1928.

Our car registered 3,029 miles on this trip without any accidents or sickness for which we truly thank the Lord.—W. S. Dixon and Wife.

The parking problem is becoming a serious situation in Bryan. On Saturdays, as well as often during the week, the farmers have difficulty in finding a place to park. It is suggested that one of the ways to alleviate this congestion is for town people to walk to their business in the morning, leaving their cars at home. This action would leave much more parking room for the people from over the county. Parking facilities is rapidly becoming one of the most serious problems confronting cities all over the nation.

TABOR TALES

PROF. R. L. HEWETT, EDITOR

Spring has frequently been cited in song, verse, and prose as the season when lovers are unusually affectionate and poets are very numerous, but to me it seems the season when all "the earth and they that dwell therein" should rejoice. For it is the period of rejuvenation. Untold millions of plants are developing from tiny brown inconspicuous seed. The bare trees and shrubs are putting on attractive foliage. Beautiful birds of red, blue and various colored plumage are to be seen darting about through the air or heard chirping their enchanting and encouraging message from about every resting place. The spirit of man, too, not necessarily of youthful man only, but of every normal individual is somehow influenced by the exhilaration of a new development which enables man to see greater opportunities ahead of him and to feel that confidence of self which is necessary to make the most of such opportunities. If there be anyone who has the slightest doubt of the existence of a great, loving Father of mankind or of a future life for us, he need only take a walk down the most convenient path or, for that matter, even stand still, and observe the many wonderful changes in the visible aspects of nature, to have his doubts dispelled. Nothing less than an infinite Being could accomplish such results and since He makes the tiniest plants develop from unvisibly little seeds, why should we doubt that He will do as much for us, the highest type of His creations? After having these visible evidences of what He has done and is doing, can we as rational beings doubt what He can do? Whether such philosophic subjects are considered or not, the glory of approaching spring is all about us reminding us that:

The Rye Club members will put on at their next regular meeting a little play entitled "The Initiation of a 4-H Club Member." At this meeting there will also be a contest among the group leaders, a prize being awarded to the group leader making the best report. The leader of the crop section declares he will win, but here are the livestock groups, poultry, garden, etc., so who can tell what group will win?

Terracing Problems

The county agent was called to the J. P. Gilpin farm on Tuesday of this week to advise with the owner of the farm relative to some terracing problems. Mr. Gilpin enjoys the reputation of being the first farmer in Brazos county to have terracing done, and he is thoroughly sold on the work, but he has found it difficult to prevent washing from one terrace to another where the low places occur between the terraces. Mr. Gilpin was advised that an additional terrace about half way between those already built would perhaps

Girls Real Demonstrators

The 4-H girls are becoming real demonstrators themselves. After learning the Bermuda faggoting stitch they have not only made some lovely home improvement articles but have taught their mothers how to make the stitch. With this valuable assistance from the club girls the home demonstration agent hopes to create more interest in handsome household linens of artistic design.

Prize Money Wisely Invested

It is gratifying to note that money prizes won in various contests of the past year are being invested wisely and for the furtherance of the 4-H cause. Prize money is being spent for fertilizer for gardens and useful articles for the home. At Reliance the community prizes are going into a fund to buy a piano for the school auditorium. This will mean much to the success of the community club. The Kings Highway girls have bought a cook stove and cooking utensils for the school and the girls' club. This investment has made possible a cookery class for the high school girls and food demonstrations for the club girls during the school term.

Club Group Picture

The county agent is planning to obtain a group picture of all the clubs in the county together with the kind of project of each club member, and offer these pictures to the farm papers of the State. Be sure to get in on these pictures.

Give the relief sought. It is the little problems like these with which Mr. Gilpin has come in contact with, that the county agent can oftentimes be of much help in an advisory capacity. Ask your county agent. If he hasn't the "dope" he will find it for you.

Joint Resolution Authorizing An Appropriation Of Five Millions For Non-Cotton Zone Introduced

WASHINGTON, March 14.—A joint resolution authorizing an appropriation of $5,000,000 to be used in compensating farmers as a result of noncotton zones to fight the pink bollworm was introduced in the House Tuesday by Representative James P. Buchanan of the Austin district.

The resolution seeks to take the pink bollworm situation out of the Federal precedent as applied to prior appropriations and which is designated to prevent the pest from becoming a general infestation under circumstances that would make eradication impossible.

Representative Eugene Black of the Clarksville district, chairman of the Texas House delegation, will call a meeting of the Texas members and members from the cotton-producing States for an understanding of the infestation now in Texas and New Mexico. Representatives from some of the cotton States are fearful that the pest may move eastward from the Midland county and Big Bend areas and threaten the entire belt.

The agricultural appropriation bill carries a total of $687,800 for eradication work. The situation also will be laid before the bureau of the budget and the President. Suggestions have been made that the amount should be doubled.

Results of an inquiry are said to show that in sections where there is infestation of both boll weevil and pink bollworm the cotton loss is frequently as high as 90 per cent. On an average, however, the boll weevil reduces production about 20 per cent and the pink bollworm about one-third of what is left, which equals a total of about half the cotton production.

In drafting the resolution, Mr. Buchanan was confronted with the previous Federal participation of only one-third. He presents this instance as being a national emergency, pointing out that regulation does not eradicate, nor does it prevent spread except where the district is isolated. The only means of eradication, the resolution says, is the establishment of noncotton zone for one or two years thereby affording a method that has a long record of successes.

Recommendations are pending in Texas for establishment of a regulated zone, Midland and surrounding counties, involving 360,000 acres, and for a noncotton zone in Brewster county. In order to obtain benefits of the proposed appropriation, Texas would have to go to noncotton zone for all infested areas.

"The State of Texas has no funds available for compensation to farmers," says Mr. Buchanan's resolution, "and its Legislature is not now in session and will not normally come in session for another year, and further action by the State would involve new legislation and new taxation, very unlikely to be obtained in view of the amount involved, and the fact as indicated, that such expense would be for protection of the entire cotton belt."

It is provided that "when any State shall have established a non-cotton zone" there would be authorized an appropriation of $5,000,000, to be expended in co-operation with the proper authorities of the State concerned in compensating any farmer for his actual and necessary loss due to the enforcement of nonproduction of cotton within said zones."

It would be provided that such loss as to the noncotton zone established by the State of Texas, "shall be determined as provided for in the existing statutes of that State, and similarly by similar statutes which may be provided by other States concerned." In estimating such losses, due account shall be taken, the resolution provides, of the value of other crops which may be produced on the land, so the loss shall not exceed the difference in return to the farmer from cotton over such other crops. The loss claims are subject to review by the Secretary of Agriculture.
